

Educational Leadership and Policy Studies (ELPS) Doctor of Education (EdD) degree:

The Educational Leadership and Policy Studies Departmental mission is to be a force for positive change in the lives of individuals, organizations, and communities by unleashing the power of learning. Our faculty members and students engage in leadership, policy, and research framed around questions of equity, ethics, and social justice to impact complex issues and problems of practice and lead change and improvement.

The EdD in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies curriculum builds on students' prior leadership preparation and master's degree with two years of coursework plus one year of supervised, applied research. Content and research courses are designed to work together, to prepare students to design, conduct, and use applied research for evidence-driven practice and policy leadership.
