Through the Evaluating Better Together conference, we seek to create a safe space to discuss the challenges we face in our evaluation work, to share our hard-earned lessons learned, and to build a community of evaluation in our region.

We'd like to emphasize that this event is especially for professionals in the field. While the conference is organized by graduate students and hosted at the university, our biggest goal is to create a shared space in which all evaluation professionals in the region can connect and learn from one another.
